

Contents

Acknowledgments   vii

One

Introduction: Transnational Feminist Practices and Questions of Postmodernity   1

Inderpal Grewal and Caren Kaplan

PART ONE

Gender, Nation, and Critiques of Modernity

Two

The Female Body and Nationalist Discourse: The Field of Life and Death Revisited   37

Lydia Liu

Three

The Female Body and “Transnational” Reproduction; or, Rape by Any Other Name?   63

Mary Layoun

Four

Woman, Nation, and Narration in Midnight’s Children   76

Nalini Natarajan

Five

Betrayal: An Analysis in Three Acts   90

Kamala Visweswaran

Six

Traddutora, Traditora: A Paradigmatic Figure of Chicana
Feminism   110

Norma Alarcón

PART TWO

Global-Colonial Limits

Seven

The Politics of Location as Transnational Feminist Practice 137

Caren Kaplan

Eight

Crossing the First World/Third World Divides: Testimonial, Transnational Feminisms, and the Postmodern Condition 153

Robert Carr

Nine

Theorizing Woman: Funü, Guojia, Jiating (Chinese Women, Chinese State, Chinese Family) 173

Tani Barlow

Ten

No Basta Teorizar: In-Difference to Solidarity in Contemporary Fiction, Theory, and Practice 197

Fred Pfeil

Eleven

Autobiographic Subjects and Diasporic Locations: Meatless Days and Borderlands 231

Inderpal Grewal

Contributors 255

Index 257