

CONTENTS

Preface	5
----------------	---

PART I: THE PHENOMENOLOGY OF EDMUND HUSSERL

Introduction	17
---------------------	----

1. Biographical Note	17
2. The Husserl-Archives	20
3. Selective Bibliography	21

I. What Is Phenomenology?	24
----------------------------------	----

Some Fundamental Themes of Husserl's Phenomenology
JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS	24

II. Husserl and Philosophic Radicalism	37
---	----

The Ideal of a Presuppositionless Philosophy
MARVIN FARBER	37

III. Phenomenological Reduction	58
--	----

Husserl's Transcendental-Phenomenological Reduction
RICHARD SCHMITT	58

The Thesis of the Natural Standpoint and Its Suspension
EDMUND HUSSERL	68

IV. Essences and Eidetic Reduction	80
---	----

Introduction	80
---------------------	----

Intuition of Essences
EMMANUEL LEVINAS	83

	On Eidetic Reduction
	EDMUND HUSSERL	105
V.	Intentionality, Constitution, and Intentional Analysis	118
	On the Intentionality of Consciousness
	ARON GURWITSCH	118
	Intentional and Constitutive Analyses
	JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS	137
	Some Results of Husserl's Investigations
	DORION CAIRNS	147
VI.	Evidence	150
	On Evidence
	QUENTIN LAUER	150
	Phenomenology of Reason
	EDMUND HUSSERL	158
VII.	Intersubjectivity	167
	The Other Explained Intentionally
	QUENTIN LAUER	167
VIII.	Transcendental Idealism	183
	Husserl's Transcendental Idealism
	JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS	183
IX.	Life-World and World-Experiencing Life	194
	Introduction	194
	Intentionality, Reduction, and Intentional Analysis in Husserl's Later Manuscripts
	GERD BRAND	197

PART II: FROM PHENOMENOLOGY TO EXISTENTIAL
PHENOMENOLOGY

I. Husserl's Phenomenology and "Existentialism"	221
Husserl's Phenomenological Philosophy in the Light of Contemporary Criticism
JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS	221
Transcendental Phenomenology and Existen- tialism
JAMES M. EDIE	237
Husserl's Phenomenology and Sartre's Existen- tialism
HERBERT SPIEGELBERG	252
II. Martin Heidegger	267
Introduction	267
1. Biographical Note	267
2. Heidegger and Husserl	272
3. Selective Bibliography	275
Phenomenology, Ontology, and History in the Philosophy of Heidegger
CALVIN O. SCHRAG	277
Phenomenology and Fundamental Ontology
MARTIN HEIDEGGER	294
III. Jean-Paul Sartre	313
Introduction	313
1. Biographical Note	313
2. Sartre's Position within the Phenomenologi- cal Movement	316
3. Selective Bibliography	321
The Transcendence of the Ego
JEAN-PAUL SARTRE	324

Phenomenology and Existentialism: Husserl and Sartre on Intentionality

MAURICE NATANSON

338

IV. Maurice Merleau-Ponty

349

Introduction

349

1. Biographical Note

349

2. Merleau-Ponty's Position within the Phenomenological Movement

354

3. Selective Bibliography

355

What Is Phenomenology?

MAURICE MERLEAU-PONTY

356

Merleau-Ponty and Phenomenology

REMY C. KWANT

375

Merleau-Ponty's Criticism of Husserl's Eidetic Reduction

REMY C. KWANT

393

PART III: PHENOMENOLOGY AND THE SCIENCES OF MAN

Introduction

411

I. Husserl's Original View on Phenomenological Psychology

JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS

418

II. Phenomenology and the Social Sciences

ALFRED SCHUETZ

450

III. Psychology, Phenomenology, and Phenomenological Psychology

JEAN-PAUL SARTRE

473

IV. The Interconnections of Psychology and Phenomenology

485

CONTENTS

13

Difficulties Involved in a Subordination of Psychology

MAURICE MERLEAU-PONTY

485

V. Phenomenology and the Human Sciences

STEPHAN STRASSER

503

VI. Summary and Conclusion

533

Toward a Descriptive Science of Man

JOSEPH J. KOCKELMANS

533