

LANGUAGE AND BEING IN WITTGENSTEIN'S
PHILOSOPHICAL INVESTIGATIONS

by

JEFFREY THOMAS PRICE

Tuskegee Institute

1973

MOUTON

THE HAGUE • PARIS

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	7
I. The Complexity of Wittgenstein's Writing
A. Introduction to the Philosophical Investigations	11
B. Preview of the Present Work	16
II. Wittgenstein's Skepticism
A. Introduction	18
B. The Skepticism of Logic	19
C. The Skepticism of Rules of Usage	24
D. The Skepticism of Pictures	32
E. The Skepticism of Mental Processes	38
F. Conclusion	47
III. Private Language
A. The Skeptical Background	49
B. Hyperbolic Privacy and Sensations	51
C. Some Other Accounts of Wittgenstein on Sensation	61
IV. The Appearance of the Extraordinary
A. Introduction	68
B. Description of Speech in Terms of Persons	69
C. The Role of Imagination	72
D. Recognition and Use	77
E. Attempts to Name the Whole of the Speaking Situation	81
F. Conclusion	83

V. Custom and Negation
A. Introduction	86
B. Custom	87
C. The Paradoxes	91
D. Negation	94
E. Conclusion	102
VI. Opacity and Reflexivity
A. Recapitulation	104
B. The Opacity of Compulsion to Speak	110
C. Wittgenstein's Philosophy as a Singular Accom- plishment	114
Index	119