

Contents

Foreword	Dieter Dettke	ix
Introduction	Michael Walzer	1
I	The Concept of Civil Society
1.	The Concept of Civil Society Michael Walzer	7
2.	Private and Public Roles in Civil Society Terry Nardin	29
3.	Interpreting the Notion of Civil Society Jean Cohen	35
4.	Reconceptualizing Civil Society for Now: Some Somewhat Gramscian Turnings Kai Nielsen	41
5.	Civil Society, Hard Cases, and the End of the Cold War Tracy B. Strong	69
II	The Communitarian Approach
6.	In Common Together: Unity, Diversity and Civic Virtue Jean Elshtain	77
7.	Too Many Rights, Too Few Responsibilities Amitai Etzioni	99
8.	Progressive Politics and Communitarian Culture William Galston	107
9.	Neo-Hegelian Reflections on the Communitarian Debate Terry Pinkard	113
10.	From Socialism to Communitarianism Philip Selznick	127

11. On Labels and Reason: The Communitarian Approach—Some European Comments
Otto Kallscheuer 133

III Economic Policy and Social Justice

12. The Invisible, the Visible and the Third Hand
Elmar Altvater 149
13. Industrial Policy—Will Clinton Find the High Wage Path? Jeff Faux 159
14. Redefining the Role of the State To Facilitate Reform in East and West Ottokar Hahn 173
15. Between Social Darwinism and the Overprotective State—Some Reflections on a Modern Concept of Social Welfare Policy Johano Strasser 179
16. Civil Society and Social Justice Günter Frankenberg 195
17. American Social Reform and a New Kind of Modernity William Sullivan 201

IV The Internationalization of Politics and Economics and the Challenge of Nationalism, Immigration, and Minority Conflict

18. East European Reform and West European Integration
Peter Glotz 211
19. Rooted Cosmopolitanism Mitchell Cohen 223
20. Ethnicity, Migration, and the Validity of the Nation-State Eric Hobsbawm 235
21. Neither Politics Nor Economics Alan Wolfe 241
22. The Left in the Process of Democratization in Central and Eastern European Countries Milos Hajek 251

V European Socialism and American Social Reform

23. After the Disappointment of the Epoch: American Social Tradition between Past and Future Norman Birnbaum	261
24. Pluralism and the Left Identity Chantal Mouffe	295
25. What's Left after Socialism Didier Motchane	301
26. Broadening the Concept of Democracy Julian Santamaria Ossorio	307
Notes on Contributors	317
Index	325