

Contents

Preface vii

Introduction: Beyond "A Woman's Right to Choose"—Feminist Ideas about Reproductive Rights 1

Controlling Our Bodies 3 / The Social Relations of Reproduction 8 / Reproductive Politics, Past and Future 14

PART I Fertility Control in Theory and History

1. Fertility, Gender, and Class 25

The Role of Technology 27 / Malthusian Ideology and Bourgeois Culture 34 / Birth Control in the Bourgeois
Family 42 / Class Divisions, Motherhood, and Fertility
Control among the Poor 45 / The Place of Abortion 49

2. Abortion and the State: Nineteenth-Century Criminalization 67

Falling Birthrates and Rising Abortions 73 / The Medical Attack 78 / The Eugenics Movement and Sterilization 84 /
Abortion, Sterilization, and the Socialist-Feminist Birth Control
Movement 89

3. Abortion and the State: Twentieth-Century Legalization 101

Falling Birthrates and Rising Abortions in the 1960s and 1970s 103 / Population Control and the Legalization of Abortion 116 / The Role of Popular Organizing: Feminists and Libertarians 125

PART II Abortion Practice in the 1970s

4. The Social and Economic Conditions of Women Who Get Abortions 141

Recent Trends in Abortion Practice 142 / Class and Race
Differences in Resolving Nonmarital Pregnancies 148 /
Abortion Access for Poor Women 155

5. Considering the Alternatives: The Problems of Contraception 168
 The Politics of Contraception 169 / The Inadequacies of Contraception 178 / Abortion and Contraception—The Necessary Link 188 / The Failure of Institutional “Delivery Systems” 192

6. Abortion and Heterosexual Culture: The Teenage Question 205
 Defining Sexuality—The Role of Abortion 206 / The Rise in Teenage Sex and Pregnancy—A Revised View 210 /
 Continuities in Heterosexual Culture 214 / Grids of Conflict and Sources of Change 221

PART III Sexual Politics in the 1980s

7. The Antiabortion Movement and the Rise of the New Right 241
 Launching the Neoconservative State 242 / The Organizational Base: Churches and Reproductive Politics 252 /
 The Ideological Message: Reprivatizing Sexuality and “Preserving the Family” 262

8. Protecting Family Integrity: The Rightward Drift in the Courts 286
 “Medical Necessity” versus Women’s Autonomy: Roe v.
 Wade 289 / Privacy Rights versus Social Justice: Medicaid Funding 295 / Sexual Freedom versus “Authority in Their Own Household”: Parental Notification 302

9. Morality and Personhood: A Feminist Perspective 326
 Fetuses and Persons 331 / Toward a Feminist-Humanist
 Concept of Personhood 341 / Fetal Politics and False
 Dilemmas 350

10. Women’s Consciousness and the Abortion Decision 364
 Doing and Believing—The Morality of Praxis 364 / Maternal Practice and Reproductive Consciousness 375

Conclusion: The Feminist Movement and the Conditions of Reproductive Freedom 384

Index 397