

Contents

Acknowledgements	6
1 Women's Studies Group: trying to do feminist intellectual work Editorial Group	7
2 'It is well known that by nature women are inclined to be rather personal' Charlotte Brunsdon	18
3 Women 'inside and outside' the relations of production Lucy Bland, Charlotte Brunsdon, Dorothy Hobson, Janice Winship	35
4 Housewives: isolation as oppression Dorothy Hobson	79
5 Working class girls and the culture of femininity Angela McRobbie	96
6 Psychoanalysis and the cultural acquisition of sexuality and subjectivity Steve Burniston, Frank Mort, Christine Weedon	109
7 A Woman's World: Woman - an ideology of femininity Janice Winship	133
8 Relations of reproduction: approaches through anthropology Lucy Bland, Rachel Harrison, Frank Mort, Christine Weedon	155
9 Shirley : relations of reproduction and the ideology of romance Rachel Harrison	176
Bibliography	197
Index	207