

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
INTRODUCTION
The Problem of Recognition	1
CHAPTER ONE
From Recognition to Acknowledgment	9
Sovereignty, Identity, and Action	10
The Nature and Sources of Injustice	17
Recognition and the State	25
The Politics of Acknowledgment	32
CHAPTER TWO
The Distinguishing Mark: Taylor, Herder, and Sovereignty	39
Two Uses of "Recognition"	39
Taylor on Agency and Language	43
"Ha! You're the Bleating One!"	47
Sovereignty through Recognition	53
Recognition as Misrecognition	58
CHAPTER THREE
Tragic Recognition: Action and Identity in Antigone and Aristotle	62
Recognition and Anagnôrisis	62
Sophocles' Antigone and Aristotle's Poetics	66
The Pursuit of Recognition in the Antigone	69
"An Imitation Not of Persons but of Action"	74
The Impropriety of Action in the Antigone	80
Anagnôrisis and Acknowledgment	84
CHAPTER FOUR
The Abdication of Independence: On Hegel's Phenomenology	90
Hegel's Two Voices	90
The Antigone in the Phenomenology	95
The Abdication of Independence	103
Subordination, or the Weight of Contradiction	108
Hegel's Antifeminism and Polyneices' Shield	113
Recognition beyond the Phenomenology	118

CHAPTER FIVE

Double Binds: Jewish Emancipation and the Sovereign State	123
The Mediating Power of the State?	123
Beyond "On the Jewish Question"	127
"A Way to Strike Them Dead"	131
Hegel, Emancipation, and Sovereignty	138
The Contradictions of Emancipation	143
Recognition's Double Binds	148

CHAPTER SIX

The Slippery Slope: Multiculturalism as a Politics of Recognition	152
Recognition beyond Monoculturalism	152
Kymlicka and the Right to Culture	156
The Rhetoric of Multiculturalism	161
Negotiating the Slippery Slope	165
The Limits of Multicultural Recognition	171

CONCLUSION

Toward a Politics of Acknowledgment	177
-------------------------------------	-----

AFTERWORD

A Note on the Cover	190
Notes	195
Works Cited	249
Index	277