

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Preface	xi
Communities, contexts and challenges to discourse theory	1
1 The fact of pluralism and the multicultural quest for community Amós Nascimento	3
2 Which person? Whose community? On the controversy between liberalism and communitarianism Rainer Forst	27
Plurality and cognitivism in light of Anglo American pragmatism	53
3 Pluralism and universalism in discourse ethics Cristina Lafont	55
4 Are moral concerns irreducible to ethical concerns? Habermas and the cognitive content of morality Wilson P. Mendonça	79

The postmodern discourse on the Other in the French context	107
5 Lyotard's conception of conflicting claims to validity and its insufficient Kantianism Dietmar Köveker	109
6 The limits of solidarity Discourse ethics, Levinas, and the moral point of view Max Pensky	129
The concrete other as subject in feminist perspective	151
7 Toward a model of self-identity: Habermas and Kristeva Allison Weir	153
8 Subjectivity in process Kristeva, discourse theory, and the trials of psychoanalysis Marianna Papastephanou	175
Liberation, globalization and the Latin American context	195
9 Discourse and liberation: The claims and contexts of two types of universalistic ethics Hans Schelkshorn	197
10 Modernity and postmodernity as challenges to discourse ethics An ethics of global co-responsibility for an age of suspect foundationalism and rhetorical relativism Eduardo Mendieta	219
Index	243