

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgments	xi

PART I: INTRODUCTION: MORAL BASES OF STATE ACTION

1 Utilitarianism as a public philosophy	3
2 The state as a moral agent	28

PART II: MORALITY, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE

3 Do motives matter?	47
4 Government house utilitarianism	60

PART III: SHAPING PRIVATE CONDUCT

5 Responsibilities	81
6 Distributing credit and blame	88
7 Apportioning responsibilities	100

PART IV: SHAPING PUBLIC POLICIES

Respecting and overriding preferences

8 Liberalism and the best-judge principle	119
9 Laundering preferences	132
10 Heroic measures and false hopes	149
11 Theories of compensation	160

Contents

Ensuring social security

12	Stabilizing expectations	183
13	Compensation and redistribution	207
14	Basic income	228
15	Relative needs	244

International ethics

16	What is so special about our fellow countrymen?	265
17	Nuclear disarmament as a moral certainty	288
18	International ethics and the environmental crisis	306

	References	321
--	-------------------	-----

	Name index	347
--	-------------------	-----