

Contents

Preface	vi
Acknowledgements	xvi
Acronyms	xxiii
Part one: Powers and vulnerabilities	1
Chapter one: Global crisis, African oppression	3
1. Introduction	3
2. Global crisis, and crisis displacement	4
3. The African crisis continues	17
Chapter two: Southern African socio-economic conflict	31
1. Introduction	31
2. Origins of the regional proletariat	33
3. Structural socio-economic and environmental decline	39
4. Workers, organisations and class politics	44
5. Capital accumulation and regional visions	48
Chapter three: Bretton Woods bankruptcies in Southern Africa	54
1. Introduction	54
2. From Bretton Woods to the debt crisis	57
3. Shaping Southern African development	61
4. From projects to policy in Southern Africa	67
Chapter four: Foreign aid, development and underdevelopment	80
1. Introduction	80
2. Dependency and leverage	81
3. Currency risk on loans	84
4. Civil society expectations	86
5. Attributing blame	87

Part two: Elite contestation of global governance	91
Chapter five: The global balance of forces	93
1. Introduction	93
2. The pro-status-quo forces	96
3. Forces for change (?)	104
4. Alliances falter	107
Chapter six: Ideology and global governance	116
1. Introduction	116
2. Explaining globalisation	119
3. Globalisation's techno-economic fix?	121
4. Ideology and self-interest	127
Chapter seven: Pretoria's global governance strategy	134
1. Introduction	134
2. 'Globalisation made me do it'	135
3. Mbeki v. 'the globalisation of apartheid'	138
4. Towards – or against – 'global solidarity'?	146
Part three: Economic power and the case of HIV/AIDS treatment ..	153
Chapter eight: Pharmaceutical corporations and US imperialism ..	154
1. Introduction	154
2. US government pressure points	157
3. Drug companies pressure the US government	166
4. Resistance	170
Chapter nine: Civil society conquest, state failure	177
1. Introduction	177
2. Pharmaceutical pricing and street politics	178
3. A political economy of South African AIDS	179
Part four: Globalisation? – or internationalism plus the nation state?	191
Chapter ten: The 'Fix-it-or-nix-it' debate	193
1. Introduction	193
2. The World Bank under siege	196
3. Reformers run into trouble	201
4. Strategic divergences on the left	207
5. After the IMF/World Bank have gone:
Local/national/regional development finance?	210

Chapter eleven: The Third World in the movement for global justice	215
1. Introduction	215
2. The world against Washington	216
3. Lessons of Zapatismo	220
4. Does Africa need Washington?	225
5. South-South-North alliances against global finance/commerce	231
Chapter twelve: The case for locking capital down	240
1. Introduction	240
2. Comparative capital controls	243
3. A brief history of South Africa's domestic finance and uneven development	252
4. Exchange control options for South Africa	271
5. Conclusion: From global apartheid to democratised investment	280
Afterword	293
Index	317