

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
CHAPTER ONE
Introduction: The Weak Ontological Turn	3
1.1. Fundamental and Contestable	6
1.2. A Stickier Subject	8
1.3. Cultivation	10
1.4. Circuits of Reflection, Affect, and Argumentation	11
CHAPTER TWO
Ontological Undercurrents within Liberalism: George Kateb's "Democratic Individuality"	18
2.1. The Ontology of Democratic Individuality	20
2.2. From an Emersonian Ontology to Ethics and Politics	30
CHAPTER THREE
The "Richer Ontology" of Charles Taylor	42
3.1. Engaged Agency	44
3.2. Theism and the Aesthetic-Expressive Dimension	57
3.3. Prefiguring the Political	69
CHAPTER FOUR
Judith Butler's Being-in-Trouble	75
4.1. Feminism and Foundations	77
4.2. "An Ontology of Present Participles"	81
4.3. "Indispensable" Foundations	87
4.4. The Insistent Ambivalence of Loss	98
CHAPTER FIVE
The Ontology and Politics of a "Post-Nietzschean Sensibility": William Connolly	106
5.1. Figuring and Cultivating Being as Rich and Fugitive	107
5.2. The Ethos of "Agonistic Democracy"	117
Conclusion	151
Index	155