Preface	11
Introduction	13
The Background of Research	13
Goals of the Present Study	14
Summary of the Book	16
1. Meaning and Grammaticality Prediction in Generative Grammar	20
Chomsky (1957)	20
Ross's Principle of Semantic Relevance	23
Katz and Postal (1964)	24
Chomsky (1965): The Standard Theory	28
Post-Aspects: The Late 1960s	28
Chomsky's Extended Standard Theory	32
Lakoff's Semantic Input Arguments	34
Lakoff's Semantic Sensitivity Arguments	36
Jackendoff's (1972) Interpretive Semantic Component	39
Overview	40
2. Syntactic and Semantic Causes of Ungrammaticality	43
Some Compatible and Incompatible Rules	45
Dative Movement and Passive	46
Reflexive and Subject-to-object Raising	46
Adverb Preposing and Passive	46
Extraposition from NP and Relative Clause Reduction	47
Be-contraction	50
Fronting Root Transformations	52
Affix-hopping and Do-support	54
Reflexive and Passive	56
That Placement and Equi-NP Deletion	58
Phrase-structure Incompatibilities	60
Partial Incompatibilities	62
That Placement and Relative Clause Formation	64
Question Formation and Complex NP Shift	65
The Syntactic Oppositions Underlying Rule Incompatibility	66

Some Semantic Oppositions Underlying Rule Incompatibility	69
Distinguishing Syntactic from Semantic Oppositions	72
3. The Referential Meaning of Definiteness	86
Section 1: On Adequately Describing and Explaining Semantic Facts	86
Section 2: The Inadequacies of Current Theories of the Definite Article	92
Russell's Theory of Definite Descriptions	92
Strawson's Reply	94
Searle (1969): Reference as a Speech Act	96
Christopherson's Familiarity Theory	99
Summary of the Appropriateness Problem	103
Section 3: Some Major Usage Types of the Definite Article	106
Anaphoric and Immediate Situation Uses	107
Larger Situation Uses	115
Associative Anaphoric Uses	123
Section 4: The 'Unfamiliar' Uses of the Definite Article in Noun Phrases with Explanatory Modifiers	130
Establishing Relative Clauses	131
Associative Clauses	138
NP-Complements	140
Nominal Modifiers	146
'Unexplanatory' Modifiers	148
Section 5: Some Differences between the Definite Article and Demonstratives	149
Section 6: The Inclusiveness of Definite Reference	157
Section 7: Summary of the Speech Acts and Appropriateness Conditions of Definite Reference According to the Location Theory	167
4. The Semantic Contrast between Definiteness and Indefiniteness	172
Some Appropriate Usage Possibilities for Indefinites	173
The Exclusiveness of Indefinite Reference	175
The Speech Acts and Appropriateness Conditions of Indefinite Reference	186
On a Non-alternative to Exclusiveness	191
Non-located Specific Indefinites	197
Explaining the Logical Contrast between Definiteness and Indefiniteness	201

Specific and Non-specific Indefinites	203
Non-specificness and Exclusiveness	208
Definite and Indefinite Generics	214
Have, Be and Set-existential Verbs	221
Relative Clauses and Exclusiveness	224
5. Ungrammaticalities Arising from the Semantic Contrast between Definiteness and Indefiniteness	228
Only	229
-est Superlatives	233
On the Non-syntactic Nature of these Article + Modifier Co-occurrence Restrictions	236
Comparatives: The Bigger Dog of the Two	240
Associative Clauses	241
Predicational Relatives	245
Sameness, Similarity and Identity	247
The Aforementioned Reference	253
Comparatives: The Bigger Dog than NP	255
Establishing Relatives with Indefinite NPs	263
The Syntactic-Semantic Unity of Definites, Stressed Indefinites, Generics and Indefinites with Establishing Relatives	265
Demonstratives	267
NP-Complements and Noun Modifiers	271
Article + Modifier Ungrammaticalities in Generative Grammar	272
Overview	276
6. Conclusions and Hypotheses for the Theory of Grammar	280
Restrictive and Appositive Relative Clauses	282
The Extent of the Role of Semantics in Grammaticality Prediction	289
Some Grammatical Contradictions	292
Chomsky's Selectional Restrictions	298
Overview	300
Notes	304
References	307
Index	312
