

Contents

Acknowledgements ix

1 Introduction: Critical theory and the critique of political economy 1

PART ONE On the critique of political economy as a critical social theory

2 Political economy and social constitution:

On the meaning of critique 21

3 Society as subject and society as object: On social praxis 53

PART TWO Value: On social wealth and class

4 Capital and labour: Primitive accumulation and the force of value 79

5 Class and struggle: On the false society 101

6 Time is money: On abstract labour 121

PART THREE Capital, world market and state

7 State, world market and society 147

8 On the state of political economy: Political form and the force of law 165

PART FOUR Anti-capitalism: Theology and negative practice

9 Anti-capitalism and the elements of antisemitism:

On theology and real abstractions 195

10 Conclusion: On the elements of subversion

and negative reason 219

Selected bibliography 229

Index 239