

CONTENTS

	Page
Preface.
Introduction .....	9
A. Rational and Empirical Features in the Constitution of Truth.
1. Truth as a Projection of the Self from a particular Existential Ground .....	13
2. Knowledge as the Functional Character of Truth .....	20
3. The Truth of not-Knowing as a Result of the Multiple or Broken Logos .....	33
B. Ethical Implications of the Real Nature of Truth.
1. The Empirical Ground of the Moral Ought .....	49
2. The Crisis of Truth as an Ethical Ground .....	58
3. The Moral Act as Real and as Reasonable .....	64
C. The Metaphysical Nature of the Human Logoi.
1. Human Truth or the Act of Self-Projection as the Essence of the Human Self .....	75
2. The Relation between the Human Truths as the Real Ground of Becoming .....	80
3. Being as the Meaningful Horizon of the Permanent Crisis .....	86
Conclusion .....	93