

CONTENTS

Preface	viii
Introduction: The Theological and Scientific Enterprises	1
1 'Science and Religion'	1
2 Attitudes to science and theology	7
3 Science and theology today: a critical- realist perspective	11
4 The relation between science and theology	19
Part I Natural Being and Becoming	25
1 Introduction	27
2 What's There?	29
1 Space, time, matter and energy	29
2 Structures and entities	36
3 Reductionism	39
4 Interconnectedness and wholeness	41
3 What's Going On?	44
1 Predictability, causality and 'top-down' ('downward') causation	45
2 The living world	55
3 The history of nature	61

vi Contents

4	Who's There?	72
1	Human personhood	73
2	Conditions for the emergence of persons	77
5	What Does It all Mean?	81
Part II Divine Being and Becoming		85
6	Asking 'Why?': The Search for Intelligibility and Meaning	87
7	'God' as Response to the Search for Intelligibility and Meaning	91
1	'God' in the philosophy of religion	91
2	'God' in Christian belief	94
8	The Concept of God: Implications of Scientific Perspectives	99
1	Divine being	101
2	Divine becoming	113
9	God's Interaction with the World	135
1	The contemporary discussion	135
2	How God might interact with the world in the perspectives of science	151
3	Models of God's interaction with the world	166
4	God's self-communication: special providence and miracles	177
10	Conclusion to Part II	184
Part III Human Being and Becoming		189
11	God's Communication with Humanity	191
1	God's interaction with a world that includes humanity	191
2	Revelation and human experience	196
3	How does God communicate with humanity?	202

12	Natural Human Being: the perspectives of the sciences and their implications for theology	213
1	Levels: foci of interest and hierarchies of complexity	214
2	The physical basis of human being (Level 1)	218
3	Human beings as living organisms (Level 2)	219
4	Human beings in the perspectives of the sciences bridging the biological and the behavioural (between levels 2 and 3)	223
5	The sciences of human behaviour (Level 3)	232
6	The social sciences (between levels 3 and 4)	239
7	Human culture and its products (Level 4)	242
8	The theology of human being in the light of the sciences	244
9	The paradox of human becoming	248
13	The Long Search and Jesus of Nazareth	255
1	Introduction	255
2	The religious quest	258
3	Who is Jesus of Nazareth?	261
14	Divine Being becoming Human	290
1	'The Jesus of history and the Christ of faith'	290
2	How could God communicate through Jesus?	295
3	God's self-expression in Jesus the Christ	300
15	Divine Meaning and Human Becoming	312
1	The divine meaning of created human being	312
2	The divine meaning for human becoming	315
3	The divine initiative for human becoming	319
16	L'ENVOI: the Divine Means for and the End of Human Becoming	338
	Postscript	347
	Notes	350
	Index	433