

Concepts of Normativity: Kant or Hegel?

Edited by

Christian Krijnen

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Contents

	List of Contributors	VII
1	Introduction	1
	Christian Krijnen
2	Being at Home with Oneself in the Whole—Hegel’s Philosophy of Freedom as Actuality	9
	Christian Hofmann
3	Hegel’s Radicalization of Kant’s Copernican Turn: the Internal Unity of the Natural and the Moral Law	26
	Paul Cobben
4	The Religion of the God-Man: Hegel’s Account of Revealed Religion in the Phenomenology of Spirit	45
	Arthur Kok
5	The Reality of Value as a Problem of Kantian Ethics	62
	Martin Bunte
6	Foundations of Normativity	73
	Max Gottschlich
7	Hegel über die logischen Grundlagen der Sittlichkeit	95
	Klaus Vieweg
8	How is Practical Philosophy Speculatively Possible?	106
	Christian Krijnen
9	The Normative Function of the Right of Objectivity in Hegel’s Theory of Imputation	120
	Giulia Battistoni
10	Freedom from Kant to Hegel	141
	Christian Schmidt
11	Justification of the State: Kant and Hegel	157
	Jiří Chotáš

- 12 Hegel's Republican Penal Philosophy: an Attempt at a Contemporary Reconstruction 177
Benno Zabel
- 13 History as the Progress in the (Un)Consciousness of Freedom? 196
Tereza Matějčková
- 14 Is There Any Philosophy of History? 216
Jean-François Kervégan
- 15 "Freedom in the European Sense": Hegel on Action, Heroes, and Europe's Philosophical Groundwork 235
Alberto L. Siani
- Index 257