

Descartes

An Intellectual Biography

STEPHEN GAUKROGER

CLARENDON PRESS · OXFORD

Contents

Chronological Table	xiv
Introduction	I
1. 'A Learned and Eloquent Piety'
Childhood, 1596–1606	15
The Christianization of Europe	24
The Civilizing Process	28
The Formation of a Gentilhomme	32
The Demise of the Municipal Collège	36
2. An Education in Propriety, 1606–1618
La Flèche	38
Christianity and the Classical Tradition	45
Res Literaria, 1606–1611	48
The Philosophical Curriculum	51
Dialectic, 1611–1612	53
Natural Philosophy and Mathematics, 1612–1613	55
Metaphysics and Ethics, 1613–1614	59
Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme : A Choice of Career, 1614–1618	62
3. The Apprenticeship with Beeckman, 1618–1619
The Meeting with Beeckman	68
Beeckman's Micro-Corpuscularianism	69
Compendium Musicae	74
Falling bodies	80
Hydrostatics	84
Proportional Compasses and the Idea of a Mathesis Universalis	89
4. The Search for Method, 1619–1625
Mirabilis scientiae fundamenta , November 1619	104
The Early Regulae , 1619/1620	111
Intuitus and the Doctrine of Clear and Distinct Ideas	115
The Doctrine of Analysis	124
Fundamentum inventi mirabilis	126
Intermezzo, 1621–1625	132

Contents

5. The Paris Years, 1625–1628
Libertine Paris	135
The Discovery of the Law of Refraction	139
Mersenne, Mechanism, and the Problem of Naturalism	146
The Return to the Regulae , 1626	152
The Nature of Cognition	158
The Representation of Algebra	172
The Final Year in Paris	181
6. A New Beginning, 1629–1630
The Retreat from Society	187
Grinding the Anaclastic	190
The Formulation of a Metaphysics	195
The Pappus Problem and the Classification of Curves	210
Parhelia and the Origins of Le Monde	217
The Dispute with Beeckman	222
7. A New System of the World, 1630–1633
The Structure of Le Monde	226
A Corpuscular Theory of Matter	228
The Laws of Nature	237
The Construction of a New World	249
The Nature of Light	256
A Mechanistic Physiology	269
Automata and Perceptual Cognition	276
The Condemnation of Galileo and the Abandonment of Le Monde	290
8. The Years of Consolidation, 1634–1640
Amsterdam, 1634–1635	293
An Exercise in Autobiography, 1635–1636	304
Scepticism and the Foundations of a New Metaphysics	309
Publication and Critical Response	321
An Indian Summer, 1637–1639	332
Meditationes de Prima Philosophia	336
Public Brawl and Personal Grief, 1639–1640	352
9. The Defence of Natural Philosophy, 1640–1644
Religious Controversy	354
Recherche de la verité versus Principia Philosophiae	361
A Textbook of Natural Philosophy	364
The Task of Legitimation	377
The Legacy of the Principia	380
10. Melancholia and the Passions, 1643–1650
‘A Doctor of the Soul’	384

Contents

Mind in Body	388
A General Theory of the Passions	394
In Search of Peace, 1646–1649	405
The Move to Sweden	412
Death and Dismemberment	416
Notes	418
Biographical Sketches	471
Select Bibliography	481
Index	489