

Consciousness and the World

Brian O'Shaughnessy

King's College London

CLARENDON PRESS · OXFORD

Contents

Introduction	I
Part I. Consciousness	35
1. The Experience	37
2. The Anatomy of Consciousness	68
3. Self-Consciousness and Self-Knowledge	102
4. 'Translucence'	164
5. Consciousness and the Mental Will	200
6. Interiority and Thinking	233
Part II. The Attention and Perception	265
Introduction	267
7. The Attention	275
8. The Attention and Perception (1)	291
9. The Attention and Perception (2)	302
10. Perception and Truth	318
11. The Imagination (1)	339
12. The Imagination (2)	362
13. Imagination and Perception	371
14. Active Attending	379
Part III. Seeing	407
Introduction	409
15. 'Blindsight' and the Essence of Seeing	415
16. Seeing the Light	439
17. Sense-Data (1)	465

CONTENTS

18. Sense-Data (2)	502
19. Secondary Qualities	515
20. The 'Perceptual Given'	538
21. Appearances	570
22. Perceptually Constituting the Material Object	592
Part IV. Perception and the Body	621
Introduction	623
23. Proprioception and the Body Image	628
24. The Sense of Touch	656
Conclusion	681
Index	697