

INDIGENISING ANTHROPOLOGY WITH GUATTARI AND DELEUZE

---

Barbara Glowczewski

EDINBURGH
University Press

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	vii
Prelude: The Wooden Egg Made Me Sick by Nakakut Barbara Gibson Nakamarra	1
1 Becoming Land	5
Part I: The Indigenous Australian Experience of the Rhizome
2 Warlpiri Dreaming Spaces: 1983 and 1985 Seminars with Félix Guattari	81
3 Guattari and Anthropology: Existential Territories among Indigenous Australians	114
Part II: Totem, Taboo and the Women's Law
4 Doing and Becoming: Warlpiri Rituals and Myths	131
5 Forbidding and Enjoying: Warlpiri Taboos	171
6 A Topological Approach to Australian Cosmology and Social Organisation	202
Part III: The Aboriginal Practice of Transversality and Dissensus
7 In Australia, it's 'Aboriginal' with a Capital 'A': Aboriginality, Politics and Identity	225
8 Culture Cult: Ritual Circulation of Inalienable Knowledge and Appropriation of Cultural Knowledge (Central and NW Australia)	257
9 Lines and Criss-Crossings: Hyperlinks in Australian Indigenous Narratives	281
Part IV: Micropolitics of Hope and De-Essentialisation
10 Myths of 'Superiority' and How to De-Essentialise Social and Historical Conflicts	299

INDIGENISING ANTHROPOLOGY

11	Resisting the Disaster: Between Exhaustion and Creation	321
12	Standing with the Earth: From Cosmopolitical Exhaustion to Indigenous Solidarities	340
Part V: Dancing with the Spirits of the Land
13	Cosmocolours : A Filmed Performance of Incorporation and a Conversation with the Preta Velha Vó Cirina	359
14	The ngangkari Healing Power: Conversation with Lance Sullivan, Yalarrnga Healer	377
	Bibliography	410
	Index	439