

PROMOTING SOCIAL COHESION

Implications for policy and evaluation

Edited by Peter Ratcliffe and Ines Newman

Contents

List of figures and tables	v
Notes on the contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: promoting social cohesion Peter Ratcliffe and Ines Newman	I
Part One: Theoretical perspectives
one From community to social cohesion: interrogating a policy paradigm Peter Ratcliffe	15
two Evaluating social cohesion Helen Sullivan	41
Part Two: Community cohesion to social cohesion: evaluation and data – methodological issues
three Measuring performance in community cohesion Crispian Fuller	61
four Migration, race and population dynamics Ludi Simpson	81
five Using local administrative data to evaluate social and community cohesion John Eversley and Les Mayhew	101
six Assessing the impact of social cohesion initiatives in a media age: methodological and theoretical considerations Roger Grimshaw and Kate Smart	121
seven Social cohesion in the local delivery context: understanding equality and the importance of local knowledge Rose Doran and Michael Keating	141
Part Three: Policy areas
eight Housing, spatial patterns and social cohesion Peter Ratcliffe	163
nine Education policy, social cohesion and citizenship Audrey Osler	185
ten Addressing worklessness post the financial crisis Ines Newman	207

eleven	New communities and social cohesion: third sector approaches to evaluation Marjorie Mayo, Vaughan Jones and Juan Camilo Cock	227
twelve	Evaluating the contribution of intergenerational practice to achieving social cohesion Alan Hatton-Yeo and Clare Batty	243

Part Four: Conclusion

thirteen	Conclusion: towards a theory of change for social cohesion Ines Newman and Peter Ratcliffe	261
-----------------	--	-----

Index		277
-------	--	-----