

RHYTHMS OF LIFE

The Biological Clocks that Control the Daily Lives of Every Living Thing

Russell G. Foster & Leon Kreitzman

P

PROFILE BOOKS

CONTENTS

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 The day within and the day without	10
2 Telling time	22
3 Oscillators, clocks and hourglasses	32
4 The challenge of daily change	49
5 The search for the clock	60
6 Light on the clock	82
7 The molecular clock: protein 'tick' and RNA 'tock'	97
8 A few species and many clocks	121
9 The changing seasons	131
10 Clockwork evolution	157
11 Sleep and performance	177
12 SAD shifts	201
13 Time to take your medicine	212
14 Future times: Uchronia or Dyschronia	232
Glossary of common terms	244
Appendix I Rhythms in humans	248
Appendix II Coping with jet-lag	250
References	257
Index	272