

Wessel Reijers • Mark Coeckelbergh

Narrative and Technology Ethics

palgrave
macmillan

Contents

1 Introduction	1
Mediation, Virtue, Responsibility	8
Towards a Hermeneutic Technology Ethics	17
References	20
2 Praxis and Contemporary Philosophy of Technology	25
Gaps in the Empirical Turn	26
Revisiting Practice	30
Narrative Embeddedness of Practice	36
Objections to MacIntyre	38
A Narrative Turn	41
Conclusion	45
References	46
3 Ricoeur's Hermeneutic Concept of Technical Practice	49
Turning to Ricoeur	50
Problematizing Technical Practice	57
A Hermeneutic Account of Technical Practice	66
Action < > Practice	70
Practice < > Life Plan	72

	Life Plan < > Narrative Unity of Life	73
	Conclusion	75
	References	76
4	A Narrative Theory of Technology	79
	Exploring Ricoeur's Narrative Theory	81
	The Model of Emplotment	81
	Narrativity and Technological Mediation	85
	Narrative Technologies	89
	Textuality, Literacy	90
	Temporality and Distancing	95
	Technical Practice and Technological Emplotment	104
	Conclusion	107
	References	109
5	Narrative Ethics of Technical Practice	113
	Virtue Ethics and Technology	115
	Technology and the Virtues	119
	Lack of an Account of Technological Mediation	122
	The Ethical Aim	130
	The Good Life	131
	With and for Others	136
	In Just Institutions	140
	Conclusion	145
	References	147
6	A Method for Technology Ethics	151
	An Iterative, Tripartite Method	153
	Illustrating the Method: Automated Borders	156
	Phase I: Description < > Interpretation	159
	Mapping Technical Practices	160
	Gathering Narratives	163
	Hermeneutic Analysis	165
	Phase II: Interpretation < > Evaluation	169
	Standards of Excellence	169

Life Plans	171
Narrative Unity of Life	172
Phase III: Evaluation < > Prescription	174
The Good Life	176
With and for Others	179
In Just Institutions	182
Conclusion	186
References	188

7 Conclusion: Hermeneutic Ethics for the Digital Age	193
Summary	195
Future Directions	197
Aristotle and the Limit of Narrativity	197
Developing a Hermeneutics of Technology	199
The Politics of Responsible Innovation	200
Conclusion	202
References	202

Index	205
--------------	-----