

A Companion to Ricoeur's *Freedom and Nature

Edited by Scott Davidson

LEXINGTON BOOKS

Lanham • Boulder • New York • London

Contents

Introduction: Freedom and Nature , Then and Now Scott Davidson	vii
PART I: HISTORICAL INFLUENCES	1
1 Ricoeur and Merleau-Ponty: From Perception to Action Marc-Antoine Vallée	3
2 Act, Sign and Objectivity: Jean Nabert's Influence on the Ricoeurian Phenomenology of the Will Jean-Luc Amalric	17
3 Ravaisson and Ricoeur on Habit Jakub Čapek	37
4 The Influence of Aquinas's Psychology and Cosmology on Ricoeur's Freedom and Nature Michael Sohn	59
PART II: KEY THEMES	77
5 The Paradox of Attention: The Action of the Self upon Itself Michael A. Johnson	79
6 The Status of the Subject in Ricoeur's Phenomenology of Decision Johann Michel	109

7	Volo, ergo sum : Ricoeur Reading Maine de Biran on Effort and Resistance, the Voluntary and the Involuntary Eftichis Pirovolakis	119
8	On Habit Grégori Jean	135
9	The Phenomenon of Life and Its Pathos Scott Davidson	157
PART III: NEW TRAJECTORIES		173
10	A Descriptive Science of First-Person Experience: For an Experiential Phenomenology Natalie Depraz	175
11	Ricoeur's Take on Embodied Cognition and Imagination: Enactivism in Light of Freedom and Nature Geoffrey Dierckxsens	191
12	Freedom and Resentment and Ricoeur: Toward a Normative-Narrative Theory of Agency Adam J. Graves	207
	Index	227
	About the Contributors	231