

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Abbreviations	ix
Introduction
THINKING ABOUT REBIRTH	1
'Stream of Life'	3
Terminological Matters	5
An Expanded Conception of Philosophy of Religion	9
Chapter Summaries	11
Chapter 1
VARIETIES OF REBIRTH	15
Soteriological Orientations	18
Retributive Correlations	26
Affinitive and Consanguineous Continuities	33
Concluding Remarks	37
Chapter 2
REMEMBERING HAVING LIVED BEFORE?	39
'Infamous Puzzle Cases'	40
Rebirth and Remembering	43
Remembering and Merely Seeming to Remember	47
Lived Examples	52
Concluding Remarks	58
Chapter 3
FINDING MEANING IN MULTIPLE LIVES	61
Allegedly Fatal Objections to a Belief in Rebirth	63
The Ethical Significance of 'Same Person'	67
Simultaneous Multiplicity	71
Rebirth and the Spirit World	75
Concluding Remarks	77
Chapter 4
INTEGRATING REBIRTH AND ETHICS	81
Transmigration and Moral Outlooks in Ancient Greece	84

Eschatologies and 'Ethicization'	92
Instances of Non-Karmic Ethical Integration	98
Concluding Remarks	102
Chapter 5
DEMYTHOLOGIZING REBIRTH?	105
'Demythologizing' in Theology and the Study of Religions	106
Karma and Rebirth without Personal Continuation	108
Critical Discussion	116
Concluding Remarks	125
Chapter 6
KARMA AND EVIL	129
Karma as a Principle of Moral Guidance	131
Is the Doctrine of Karma Incoherent?	134
The Problem of 'Blaming the Victim'	139
A Deep Disagreement	144
Alternative Aspects of Karma	148
Concluding Remarks	153
Chapter 7
CONCLUSIONS	155
Disrupting Assumptions	156
Diversity and Dispute	158
Methodological Reflections	161
Bibliography	163
Index	191