Introduction 1

1 What Is Logic about? 9

2 Some Platitudes (?) about Argumentation and Arguments 17

2.1 Arguments and Their Correctness 17
2.2 Are There Correct Arguments that Are Not Logically Correct? 23
2.3 Forms of Arguments 28

3 Beyond the Platitudes 36

3.1 Boundaries? 36
3.2 Truth? 38
3.3 Truth-Preservation? 44
3.4 Logical Form? 47

4 Logical Analysis 52

4.1 Structure versus Form 52
4.2 The Art of Analysis 54
4.3 Regimentation and Logical Structure 57
4.4 Hybrid Languages 59
4.5 Abstraction and Logical Form 60

5 Criteria of Formalization 63

5.1 Seeking the Best Formalization 63
5.2 The Criteria of Formalization 69
5.3 Formalization as Bootstrapping 74

6 Semantic Criteria? 77

6.1 Logical Formalization as Translation? 77
6.2 Does Semantics Offer Us a Firmer Foundation? 80
6.3 Does Semantics Let Us Capture What Inferences Do Not? 87
6.4 Do Logical Forms Have Truth Conditions? 88

7 Reflective Equilibrium 91

7.1 What Is Reflective Equilibrium? 91
7.2 Reflective Equilibrium Is Not Creation Ex Nihilo 95
7.3 From Form to Function 98
7.4 Laws of Logic as Resulting from a Reflective Equilibrium 101
7.5 Logic and 'Intuitions' 103

8 Logic as a Result of the Reflective Equilibrium 106

8.1 How Much Does the Reflective Equilibrium Alter Our 'Intuitions'? 106
8.2 Logic and Natural Languages 108
8.3 Logic and Correctness of Arguments 112
8.4 Plurality of Logics 115
8.5 Laws of Logic 117
8.6 Logic and Meaning 121

9 Incorrectness 123

9.1 Which Arguments Are Logically Incorrect? 123
9.2 Are There Arguments that Are Logically Incorrect, but Correct? 126
9.3 Incorrect Arguments 128
9.4 A Strong Notion of Logical Incorrectness 132
9.5 Properties of the Definition of Logical Incorrectness 135

10 Logical Analysis as Mapping the Inferential Landscape 137

10.1 A Holistic View on Formalization 137
10.2 An Example 140
10.3 Mapping Inferential Neighbourhoods 145

11 The Landscape of Natural Language 149

11.1 Is the Mapping Simile Viable? 149
11.2 Rules of Inference in Natural Language 155
11.3 Logical Languages as Maps 160
11.4 Compositionality 163
